[DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

EASTERN DATES TO FEB. 9.

WASHINGTON CITY.

The flutter about the Washington Treaty—Congressional News.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—A dispatch says that Senator Edmunds asserts that he will press the resolution of inquiry into the Alabama question at an early day. He is of the opinion that the English flurry was gotten up to affect the determination of the International tribunal. It is believed in Washington that, as Earl Granville's note on the subject to our Government does not intimate any intention of withdrawal from the Conference, no back down will be made on the ground that the intention of a withdrawal was expressed.

Mr. Edmunds called up the resolution asking the President for information respecting the alleged intention of Great Britain to revoke the treaty of Washington.

Mr. Sherman said that he regarded the Washington Treaty as a high and solemn contract between the nations, and did not believe, under all considerations, that either nation would be likely to violate it.

Mr. Morton suggested that Edmunds should modify the resolution so as to ask information respecting the complaint made by the British Government against the case submitted by the United States. The resolution, as it stood, assumed that it was the intention to revoke the treaty, whereas, neither the Queen's nor the Premier's speech intimated such intention, but remonstrated against the case presented.

Mr. Edmunds said if the report of Gladstone's speech was correct, and the English language meant in England what it means here, the Premier certainly did intimate that England would revoke the treaty unless the United States would consent to change or withdraw its case. He would accept the suggestion and modify the resolution, but he intended referring it to the Committee.

Mr. Sherman thought this a very proper case for reference under the circumstances, and the proper course for the United States was to pursue the even tenor of our way and present our case in simple, direct and moderate terms. If political excitement on the subject should arise in Great Britain we had not better notice it; let them settle it in their own way and the agitation will subdue in time. But he did not believe the Government of Great Britain would dare to draw back in the presence of the civilized world and the public sentiment of the world.

Mr. Patterson was sorry to hear such language from the Senator from Ohio. [Laughter.]

Mr. Fenton thought on this occasion it was the highest wisdom, and made a motion to lay it on the table.

Mr. Patterson assumed that our Government knew what claims it had a right to present. He thought the reported language of Gladstone was insulting to the United States.

Mr. Sherman thought the resolution had better be referred to the Committee on Foreign Relations. Whenever any such information as that called for should be received the President would communicate it. Under the circumstances it was best to maintain a dignified attitude.

Mr. Hamlin took the same ground and moved to table the resolution.

Mr. Edmunds demanded the yeas and nays, which were ordered, when Robertson called up the Amnesty bill and the resolution went over.

In the House, Peters, from the Judiciary Committee, reported back the memorial of William Hastings for the impeachment of Ogden Hoffman, Judge of the United States District Court of California, and Judge Field of the Supreme Court, and asked to be discharged from its further consideration. So ordered.

In the Senate to-day, on motion of its Chairman, the Committee on Public Lands was formally discharged from the further consideration of the memorial of William McGarrahan, which was referred to the Committee on Private Land Claims.

After a lengthy discussion on the Amnesty bill a vote was taken and the bill was rejected by the following vote—two-thirds not voting in the affirmative:

YEAS—Ames, Anthony, Brownlow, Caldwell, Cameron, Clayton, Cragin, Fenton, Ferry of Michigan, Flanigan, Frelinghuysen, Gilbert, Hamilton, Harlan, Hamlin, Hicks, Kellogg, Morrill, Osborne, Patterson, Pomeroy, Poole, Ramsey, Rice, Robertson, Sawyer, Sherman, Spencer, Sumner, West, Wilson, Winton—33.

NAYS—Blair, Boreman, Davis of West Virginia, Goldthwaite, Hall, Johnson, Kellogg, Logan, Morrill of Maine, Norwood, Salisbury, Scott, Stevenson, Stockton, Trumbull, Vickers, Wright, —17.

CANADA.

Canada Preparing to Evade the Blow.

BOSTON, Feb. 9.—A special dispatch from Halifax says it is reported on trustworthy authority that a document has been signed by the Canadian Government for a separation from the British Empire. It was agreed to when the act of Confederation was passed by the Imperial Parliament, but was not to take effect for some years, unless the British Government saw the necessity for such action. Ever since the treaty the British troops have been gradually withdrawn from Canada, until now there is scarcely a soldier in the Dominion outside of Halifax. There is no doubt that should differences become serious between Great Britain and the United States, the British Government will at once publish a treaty proclaiming the independence of Canada, and by that means be relieved from the necessity of defending that colony against the United States should war ensue.

MEXICO.

The Insurrection.

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—A special dispatch from Matamoras says an attack is expected on the town of Piedras Negras.

Valdes, commanding the Government forces, broke the seals of ammunition belonging to a commercial agency and appropriated goods of Americans.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

English News.

LONDON, Feb. 9.—Charles Francis Adams sails from Liverpool to-morrow.

It is reported that Americans in Liverpool don't approve the claims for indirect damages.

The Times declares that England has not revoked and never will revoke the Treaty of Washington. She is still ready and resolved to stand by it, but cannot and will not enter into an alternation.

LIVERPOOL, Feb. 9.—The Colorado has broken in two and will prove a total loss.

German News.

BERLIN, Feb. 9.—In the Diet to day during the debate on the Executive bill, Bismarck said the Government was disposed to propitiate the Roman Catholics, but its patience was exhausted. He announced it as the policy of Prussia hereafter to Germanize the Polish schools, as France had Gallicized those of Alsace and Lorraine.

CALIFORNIA.

From San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 10.—The thoroughbred stallion "Washington," sold at auction by Chase & Bowley yesterday, was purchased by Burgess, of the Cliff House, for $4,000.

The latest dispatches report the snow blockade as more complete than ever, and our merchants and business men are resorting to telegraphing exclusively, in despair of all mail communication. An immense amount of goods is being ordered by telegraph from New York via the Isthmus.

A BANKING GAME.—The Solano Republican relates the following: Some people have an imperfect knowledge of what a "banking game" is. The conundrum was explained a few days ago by a witness in a Justice's court in Napa. Some Chinamen had been arrested for gambling, and as the law provides a penalty only for those engaged in a "banking game," the defense questioned the Constable who made the arrest very closely as to what constituted a game of this kind. "Well," said he, hesitatingly, "I know what a banking is; it is a game played on a table, and when the dealer wins you lose, and when you lose the dealer wins!" This explanation settles a much disputed question.

Johnson's Impeachment.

INTERESTING REMINISCENCES.

The Washington correspondent of the Cincinnati Commercial, a strong anti-administration paper, in a sketch of Attorney General Williams, furnishes the following in regard to the impeachment trial of Andrew Johnson. It relates facts which have never been published before, but which are readable and even interesting:

DURING THE IMPEACHMENT TRIAL.

Of Andy Johnson, as all will remember, there was the most intense and absorbing excitement, and in the trial Judge Williams took a conspicuous part. The various shades of curiosity, interest, anxiety and concern, were all excited on the result of that most extraordinary once. Every day of the seventy-two, including recesses, during which the trial lasted, added to the excitement, until Washington was wild with the sensation. It pervaded every household, it broke every circle, it penetrated into every recess, and took possession of every mind. It could not be put off; business was stopped, society stood still, and all the elements of Washington revolved on this axis of impeachment. Of course, those most interested in the result, next to Boss Wade, the Andy Johnson office-holders and the Ben Wade office-seekers, (the three classes being the closest, of course,) were the politicians generally. It was a trial the like of which will never be known again.

FIXING THE RESPONSIBILITY.

When the impeachment trial of Andy Johnson was drawing to a close, it was discovered that there were some very weak articles, which even some of the most devoted party men could not support. There were whisperings first, then open charges, that Senators had been bought with money and promises. The Ben Wade party were fearful of the future; spies were employed on both sides, Senators were dogged night and day. Nothing can describe the anxiety of the impeachers. Both parties were, of course, anxious, although I have often thought that Johnson knew what the result would be, and the men who were to bring it about. The impeachers early came to understand that they could not convict the President on all the charges, and they counseled long and earnestly as to the course they should pursue. Of course, only the simon pures were allowed to be present at these consultations. Williams was a rigid party man, and I have it from Senators who participated in these meetings that he was greatly relied on for advice and suggestions. His great good sense and his shrewd lawyer's instinct had full scope, and they brought their reward. The impeachers feared certain Senators; they knew some would vote against certain articles, but just what ones they could not find out. They were in a terrible dilemma, and Williams brought them out of it. He knew that the eleventh article was the strongest one, and that next to that were the second and third. He knew that if Johnson could not be convicted on one or the other of those he could not be convicted at all, and so when the Senate met on

THE DAY OF TRIAL.

Every seat was filled, every foot of room in the galleries was occupied, and the excitement of the occasion was smothered into silence as oppressive as death. The preliminaries were gone through with, and the vote was ready to be taken. The stillness at this point was most intense. There was not a motion throughout the vast assemblage. Slowly the awkward and angular form of Senator Williams arose, and instantly every eye was turned to him. He merely said, in a calm and earnest manner: "Mr. Chief Justice, I move that a vote be taken on the Eleventh Article first, and on the others as they stand." Consternation was on the face of the Chief Justice, the council for the President, the Democratic Senators, and the seven who cast their votes against their party. But the simple motion was enough. The impeachers understood it instantly—Reverdy Johnson wanted to debate it; Hendricks wanted to ask questions, but debate and explanations were out of order, and the vote was taken on Williams' motion. When this was announced impeachment was sealed. The motion was carried. Then Howard and Grimes, both too sick to sit up, were brought in; the vote on the Eleventh Article was taken, and Andrew Johnson stood acquitted on that article.

ADMIRABLE FINESSE.

The Chief Justice had barely said: "The vote stands 35 to 19; two-thirds have not pronounced him guilty, and the President is therefore acquitted upon this article," before Senator Cameron, who had got his cue from Williams, jumped to his feet and moved an adjournment for ten days. This needed only a majority, and was carried. "I don't know what the adjournment was for, unless it was to enable Grimes, who was really very sick, to die, or to enable the impeachers to labor with the seven disloyal Senators. At any rate adjournment was carried, and when the ten days came around Williams was again on hand. He obtained the repeal of his former order, and on his motion a new one was adopted, that votes be next taken on the second and third articles. The same nineteen Senators were recorded on the negative, and Johnson was acquitted on these articles. Then up jumps Williams, and as quick as lightning moves that the Senate, sitting as a court of impeachment, adjourn sine die. There was great squirming, but there it was—the disgrace was upon them indelibly, and out of the seven Senators only one has raised his head since. Henderson was defeated for re election, Fessenden died, Grimes is forgotten, Ross was defeated, and what has become of Fowler and Van Winkle nobody cares to know. Trumbull alone remains.

THE REASONS FOR IT.

The reader will hardly understand what to my knowledge has never been before explained in print, namely, the true reason why votes were never taken on the eight remaining articles, and why Williams took the action he did. The first, fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh, eighth, ninth and tenth articles were very weak, and on some of them there would scarcely have been a majority. Thad. Stevens' article, the eleventh, contained the only point in the whole proceeding, and when that was defeated, impeachment was defeated. It was known that Ross, Van Winkle and Henderson would vote for some of the articles, but there was no possibility of carrying them. The consultations had developed that. Had votes been taken on the whole eleven articles, the anti impeaching Republicans could have said, "You can't blame us with it; we voted for such-and-such articles. You must blame Anthony, and Sprague and Willey." The result would have been the same. As it was, the disgrace, if there was any, (which I doubt, at this late day, as I know many do), fell where it should have fallen—on the seven Republican Senators.

Short Paragraphs.

"Legett for Washington Territory!" is the cry rung in the ears of the Kansas man just appointed Governor over our Puget Sound neighbors.

Brick Pomeroy says that "the Democratic party is damned. It has retreated from every field—sought refuge in every out-house, turned its back upon principle, played with poppies and eaten the sweet seeds, till now it has sunk to calm, passive sleep!"

The North German Gazette denies the statement first published in the London Standard that Gen. Von Moltke had expressed his disapproval in a military point of view of the famous march to the sea made by Gen. Sherman's army during the civil war in the United States.

For answer to the attacks made by the President-makers upon President Grant, the proposition of the house of Rothschilds to take six hundred millions of our national debt at rates of 5, 4½, and 4 per cent. interest, comes thundering in. The best evidence of the success of the administration of this Government is the judgment passed upon it by the money magnates of Europe.

The Chicago Republican, in anticipation of the possible nomination and election of Geo. Wilkes for the Presidency, sums up its choice of a Cabinet as follows: Secretary of State, Hon. John C. Heenan; Secretary of War, Hon. Joseph Coburn; Secretary of the Treasury, Hon. John Morrisey; Secretary of the Navy, Hon. Josh. Ward; Postmaster General, Hon. In a recent report issued by the Gazette of India, the startling statement is made that the aggregate number of deaths by wild beasts throughout the provinces of Madras, Bombay, Bengal, the northwestern provinces, Punjaub, Oude, central provinces, Coorg, Hyderabad, and British Burmah, for three years, amounts to 12,554. The deaths from snake bites over the same area number 25,664; making a total of 38,218. Nice country to live in!

The Daily Oregonian.

MONDAY MORNING, FEBRUARY 12, 1872.

A Short Way with Assailants.

The Herald, with a busybody's instinct, intromits some meddlesome and impertinent remarks upon a subject which is between the OREGONIAN and the Albany Democrat. The latter paper charged that we "suppressed" on Monday, the 5th instant, a telegraphic item which gave information that Collins, a Pension Agent in the District of Columbia, was ascertained to be a defaulter in the sum of $10,000. We replied that the Democrat in making this statement had "fabricated a falsehood," and that the item referred to was published in the very number of the OREGONIAN in which the Democrat said it did not appear;" and further, that a day or two afterwards we obtained and published additional information about the affair.

And now comes the Herald saying that it has looked through the OREGONIAN of the 5th instant and failed to find the item; that it dislikes to think that we would "fabricate a falsehood" about publishing it, but intimates that we have done so, and virtually seconds the Albany paper's charge that we "suppressed" the item referred to. We can make short work of these villifiers.

The item in question was made up by the editor under the head of "Condensed Telegrams" for the OREGONIAN of Monday, the 5th inst. When the foreman came to make up the "forms" for the press he wanted an item of three or four lines to fill out a column in another part of the paper. As it happened, he took this item for that purpose. Incidents like this, as every printer knows, occur every day in making up "forms" for the press. Hence this particular item did not appear under the regular telegraphic head, but was nevertheless in the OREGONIAN of Monday, the 5th inst.

This is wasting a great deal of space upon a trifling matter, but as we intend to tell these villifiers some truths, we are not quite done yet. Neither the Portland Herald nor the Albany Democrat is a newspaper; nobody ever thinks of looking into their columns for the news of the day. They are intensely partisan, and with narrow bigotry systematically suppress everything which they think will bring their party into discredit, as they did for months in the case of the Tammany robberies. Their columns are filled with stories and slanders about their opponents which are so absurd, exaggerated and false, that they carry their own refutation with them. One day it is asserted that Bontwell has "stolen one hundred and ten millions;" the next, that during the last three months subordinate Republican officials have "robbed the Treasury of sixty-four millions five hundred thousand," and so on. Anon, that "Grant takes bribes," "associates with horse-racers and black-legs," "tells lies," "gets drunk," and perhaps, that he "beats his wife." This is their idea of journalism. They are welcome to pursue it. But when they assert that we descend in practice to their level, and try to make it appear that we have attempted some of their discreditable tricks, we demur decidedly.

And now a word to the Herald alone. That paper has intruded in this affair and tried to support the charge of the Albany Democrat against our veracity. We have to remind it that its own veracity is at stake in a matter which it is trying to forget. It contradicted our statement a few days since that the Swartwout embezzlement was one million dollars, and said it was only twenty thousand. We showed from the official record that it was nearly a million and a half, yet the Herald has not corrected its statement. Does it intend to do so? It has made an assertion that is altogether erroneous and misleading, and in doing so has disputed the correct statement of a contemporary. Does it intend to "suppress" a statement of the true amount of the Swartwout embezzlement, on the supposition that it might do its party an injury to have delinquencies of this kind remembered against it? Now let the Herald respond!

Is it War?

If we may judge from the tone of the British Columbia press on the present dispute about the Washington Treaty, our neighbors just over the forty-ninth parallel are decidedly bellicose. Here, for instance, is the Victoria Colonist bristling all over, and eager to see the sons of Britain deck themselves in war paint and feathers, and come to the front with all the pomp and circumstance of glorious war. It says: "No true Briton would purchase peace at a sacrifice of honor and justice. The old flag must not be trailed in the dust. Rather than that let the Treaty of Washington be severed by the sword." Now it will cost nothing for our neighbors to talk big. They have license for that. A dispatch which we print this morning to the effect that in case the difficulty with Great Britain assumes a very serious aspect that country will publish a decree of separation of the Dominion of Canada (which now includes British Columbia) from the British Empire, may probably make our friends across the border more belligerent than ever. Separated from Great Britain they would not be involved in the war which would ensue, and hence they would be in a position to insist with the utmost earnestness and resolution and patriotic ardor that the honor of the British name should be upheld and Yankee insolence chastised. Under these circumstances our northern neighbors could well afford to raise their voices for war, and to denounce as unworthy the name of Englishmen, those who would submit to a Yankee affront, and who, in the face of such an insult, would "counsel ignoble ease and peaceful sloth." It would be as safe as easy for our cousins to make faces at us over the line, and to exhort old England to "give it to us good!" And to tell us, too, what they could do, if they were still a part of the British Empire. They could come down upon us,—

> A multitude like which the populous North
> Poured never from her frozen loins, to pass
> Rhine or the Danaw, when her barbarous sons
> Came like a deluge on the South and spread
> Beneath Gibraltar to the Libyan sands!

So in this view of it we shall be very fortunate. In case of war with England, our warlike northern neighbors can't get at us, and the lucrative commerce in eggs, skins, mill feed and herring, between Vancouver's Island and our own beautiful Columbia river, will not be rudely interrupted.

The last Legislature of this State saddled upon the taxpayers of Portland a police system that costs nearly as much as all the branches of the State Government, proper. We now pay twenty thousand dollars a year for police, and the expense is growing at a frightful rate. Next year it will not be under thirty thousand. The money which Portland now pays for this bit of Democratic legislation would pay the salary of every State official, including Governor, Secretary, Treasurer, all the State Judges and Prosecuting Attorneys, and go far towards paying the salaries of members of the Legislature, besides. This is the system which has been forced upon Portland in opposition to the will of its citizens and their representatives in the Legislature. Do the people of other counties think it fair? How would they like to have their own home affairs interfered with, and they compelled to pay so heavily for the interference? Is it any benefit to them to treat Portland with such rank injustice?

The American Claims.

The British Colonist (Victoria), in discussing the Alabama case, characterizes the American claims as being as "outrageous as they are audacious," and observes they are grouped under the following heads:

1. The claims for direct losses growing out of the destruction of vessels and their cargoes by the insurgent cruisers. 2. The national expenditures in the pursuit of these cruisers. 3. The loss in the transfer of the American commercial marine to the British flag. 4. The enhanced payments of insurance. 5. The prolongation of the war, and the addition of a large sum to the cost of the war, and the suppression of the rebellion.

The Colonist goes on to speak of these claims for indirect or consequential damages. We are bound to say that we think many of its deductions entirely unwarranted. It is absurd to say that the American claims embrace a demand for reimbursement for all the expenditures of the last two years of the war, and for incidental loss to the industry of the country besides. Losses of this sort cannot be estimated. There is no rule, no trick of numbers, by which they can be computed. It is idle to talk of them in connection with a cash indemnity, because they are incommensurable with money. Between them and money there is no mean, no ground of comparison. We quote here what the Colonist has to say:

> Under these several heads direct and indirect damages are claimed. Take, for instance, the fifth head. It is claimed that not only has the nation a right to be reimbursed in the entire cost of the war during the two years it is alleged to have been prolonged by the acts and neglects of Great Britain, but it is further claimed that there must be full compensation for all private and individual losses arising out of that two years' fighting, and then private losses are divided into two classes,—direct and remote, ascertained and speculative. The reader will at once see that the ground taken before the Geneva Court of Arbitration is much the same as that taken by Sumner in his great speech against the Reverdy Johnson treaty,—only a "little more so." It has been said that the ground thus laid down is broad enough to produce a sum greater than the whole price of peace paid by France. Nor does that seem to be an exaggeration. The Court is asked to decree against Great Britain not only for the loss of vessels actually captured and for their cargoes, but for the injury done to their crews in the loss of wages, injury to health, etc., etc. Not only are the ordinary expenses of the two years' war claimed; but full compensation is demanded for the loss to the nation by these years not being years of peace and reproductive industry. Not only is the state to be paid for every subject it lost during these two years, but the immense loss to individuals and families by their relatives and supporters being killed or maimed must all be made good, so that the fortunes which these persons might, in all human probability, have accumulated, had they been spared to their relatives, will be urged as a basis for compensation.

This is simply British indignation "writ large." The American claims are each absurd demands. It simply asks that reimbursement be made for the various losses and expenditures that grew out of the acts committed by the several cruisers that were let loose by Great Britain. In this demand some "consequential damages" are involved, as the claim for indemnity for expenditures by our Government in pursuit of those cruisers and for the prolongation of the war through their agency. It is well known that some of them were at sea preying on our commerce for weeks and even months after the collapse of the Southern Confederacy.

By referring to the vote in the Senate on the Amnesty Bill it will be seen that most of the Democratic Senators, including Kelly of Oregon, voted against it. This, probably, was because of the amendments which were tacked on the bill. Senator Kelly and his political associates want Davis, Breckinridge, Toombs and other rebel leaders, to have amnesty on their own terms, and think all conditions impertinent. It is a hardship, as they think, that those whom they look up to as the legitimate chiefs of the Democratic party, should rest longer under disability to participate in or direct the affairs of Government. Other Democratic leaders, Tweed, Connolly and Hall, are also under the ban, and doubtless amnesty will soon be wanted for them. "The party" is unfortunate with its leaders.

We don't suppose that any one will claim that the management of the Penitentiary under the Wood's administration was a pattern of excellence, or even very creditable. But it is ridiculous for the present rulers of our State to suppose, as they evidently do, that the report of the Investigation Committee, which they are holding back till just before the election, will be a trump card for campaign purposes. It is all ex parte, and gotten up exclusively for partisan purposes. Coming in this way, it will want the force which it might have had, and it appeared at a proper time and in a proper form. These small quirks and fetches for party purposes amount to little or nothing in the long run.

Beriah Brown, in his Seattle Dispatch, observes that the Democratic element in this State, which controlled the last Convention is still in the ascendant, and hence, he says, the present party organization, is literally described by Nasby as "Confederate X Roads" politicians. He adds: "The State Central Committee, at its recent meeting, unanimously resolved against any concessions or compromises to secure the success of principles by the weakening of party obligations. They go for a 'squar victory or a squar defeat,' and the result is not doubtful." This means, undoubtedly, that Beriah looks for a Democratic defeat.

Democratic financiering receives further illustration in California. The Governor of that State has sent a special message to the Legislature from which it appears that the State Capitol, the Normal School, the Military, the Insane Asylum, and the State Prison funds were severely overdrawn by the last administration; and the taxpayers must be assessed for the payment of these extra items, which in the aggregate exceed six hundred thousand dollars. These profligate expenditures were made without sanction of law, chiefly for the purpose of creating patronage in the hope to carry the election.

The San Francisco Call says: Mr. Wand, of the State Senate, has given notice that he will introduce a bill for licensing disreputable houses in this and other towns throughout California. This is one of those abominations which it is unpleasant even to discuss; yet strange as it may seem, there are men who advocate the passage of such a law. They would cause this and other cities, in California, to become sinks of iniquity.

The Sauro Tunnel is now being pushed forward with all possible dispatch and a large number of men are employed in the work.

OREGON.

The junior people of Eugene City had a Leap Year's Ball a few nights ago, and much fun.

Reports of the insecurity of the railroad bridge at Harrisburg are denied by the Albany Register.

Ben Simpson has returned to Yaquina Bay from San Francisco. He came up in the schooner Elnorah.

E. L. Carroll, formerly a student of Corvallis College, was drowned while attempting to cross a stream in Eastern Oregon, recently.

John Pelling, of Jackson county, has brought an action to recover $1,000 damages from Thos. Sly for assault and battery, whereby the plaintiff's nose was broken.

It has been ascertained in Lane county that a shot gun is the most effective thing to locate the terminus of a railroad with. No charge to Puget Sounders for this hint.

Though the snow blockade on the Union Pacific Railroad continues, the "blockade" on the Oregon and California road at Chrisman's, in Lane county, has been raised.

A dwelling on the farm of Perry Smith, near Dallas, which was occupied by Wm. Kersey, was destroyed by fire on Thursday night. All the family effects of the latter were lost.

James Hamlin, of Jacksonville, has commenced an action against the law firm of Kahler & Watson, B. Stevens and Sarah, his wife, to recover $2,234 damages for the alleged unlawful issue and levy of and execution against the property of plaintiff.

The contract for erecting the new Court House at Salem has been awarded to D. A. Miller and Messrs. Boothby & Stapleton. The contract could not have been let to more responsible parties, and under their guidance the building will be erected as early as possible. For the faithful performance of their contract they gave bonds to the amount of $40,000, with the following persons as sureties: D. M. McCully, J. H. Moores, R. M. Wade, A. A. McCully, T. McF. Patton, E. N. Cooke and A. F. Waller. The building is to cost $90,000.

Dallas girls are full of fun. Of late they have been tormenting a young man by giving his door a rap whenever they chanced to pass his rendezvous, and that seems to have been quite frequent. On last Thursday evening the young beau played even on his persecutors, by fixing his door so that the slightest touch would open it. Soon the mischief-making damsels came along, and in one of them attempting to rattle the door caused it, of course, to swing open, which caused the aforesaid damsel to tumble headlong into the room, right where the young man was sitting. We don't know the rest.

THE TERRITORIES.

There has recently been a strike in the seventh level of the Ida Elmore mine at Owyhee, which is turning out enormously. The rock yields $100 to the ton.

The Railroad Company's sawmill at Kalama is now engaged at sawing the square timber for the frame of Abernethy's sawmill at Oak Point, to replace the one recently burned there.

A jokist says that the Puget Sound people only hunt claims one hour in the day. All the rest of the time they are hunting for the terminus of the Northern Pacific Railroad—something that never has been lost.

Major Cooper, Medical Director of the Department of the Columbia, has appointed Dr. H. G. Maurey, of Vancouver, Assistant Surgeon, U. S. A., to report for the present in charge of the post hospital.

Mrs. J. B (Joey Bagstock?) Frost is lecturing on Puget Sound on the "Downfall of the United States Government." This lady is sure that the Government is doomed. But her voice is like Cassandra's: nobody heeds it.

The Vancouver Register says: Major E. G. Adams has concluded to retire to the quiet shades of private life, and in the peaceful pursuit of agriculture, on his St. Helen's farm, seek an independence, to which, as an office-holder it would be vain to aspire.

The Kalama Beacon learns that J. L. Hallet has been awarded the contract for constructing the thirty miles northward of Montgomery's terminus extension. Mr. Hallet is contractor now on the Oregon and California road, south of Eugene toward Roseburg.

Divers from Port Townsend recently visited the ship Lookout, which struck upon Race Rocks, in the Straits of Fuca. They found the forefoot and seven feet of the keel gone and the ship making water. They stopped the leak, and the Lookout will continue the voyage to San Francisco, where she will be docked.

BRITISH COLUMBIA.

A valuable piece of ground at Victoria is in litigation between the Hudson's Bay Company and the Colonial Government.

It is feared that the telegraph cable between San Juan and Lopez Islands has again given out. It was laid anew about three months since.

The Hudson's Bay Company's bark Lady Lampson has arrived at Victoria, 150 days from Gravesend, with a full cargo of assorted merchandize.

A party of miners in a schooner have gone from the mouth of Skeena to Gold Harbor on Queen Charlotte Island, to prospect for auriferous quartz.

Desertions continue from the British war vessels at Esquimalt. Four men stole the captain's gig (of the Scout) a few nights since, and escaped to the American shore.

What Prussia does with the Money.

[From the London Times.]

Now that a considerable portion of the war indemnity—1,500,000,000f.—has been liquidated by France, it will be interesting to know what becomes of the money. In the first place, 325,000,000f., being the purchase money for the Alsatian railways, must be deducted from the sum total. The rest 1,175,000,000f., is equal to 313,000,000 thalers. Of this 4,000,000 thalers have been reserved to endow the generals, and another 4,000,000 thalers to assist those members of the Landwher and Reserve whose pecuniary circumstances have suffered in the war. Two million thalers more will indemnify the Germans expelled from France, 7,000,000 thalers are alloted to shipowners whose vessels were seized or detained in the harbor by the blockade, and about 20,000,000 thalers have to go to the inhabitants of Alsace and Lorraine for damages sustained and provisions supplied both to the French and Germans in the campaign. And to this 5,000,000 thalers required for repairs and rolling stock of the Alsace-Lorraine railways, and we have a total of 42,000,000 thalers consumed in redressing some of the evils wrought by the war. Of the remaining 281,000,000 thalers, the government would, under a new act of Parliament, be entitled to 240,000,000 thalers as a pension for invalids; but as the whole sum is not required at once, and as the individual States are anxious to have a portion of their war expenditure reimbursed, it is assumed that only 31,000,000 will revert to the pension list for the present, and the remaining 230,000,000 be distributed. The division is made according to the number of men supplied by each State. In other words, Prussia, or rather the late North German Confederacy, receives five-sixths of the whole, the remaining sixth being portioned out between Bavaria, Wurtemberg, Baden and the southern half of Hesse, which, before the war, had a separate contingent. The 200,000,000 thalers thus accruing to North Germany will be employed in replenishing the war treasury and cancelling a portion of the war debt. The war treasury amounts, it is well known, to 30,000,000 thalers. As to the war debt, treasury bonds to the amount of 35,000,000 thalers were redeemed during the last few weeks, 68,000,000 thalers more fell due before the 1st of February, and 17,000,000 thalers paper money are to be withdrawn from circulation in the course of the present year.

East of the Mountains.

The mail from the Dalles arrived last evening, bringing the Mountaineer of the 31. The following summary is from that paper:

The weather during the past week, up to Thursday, was cold and pleasant—the thermometer ranging from 15° to 30°. On Thursday night it set in to rain and continued all day Friday, and was still raining when we went to press. The cattle in this particular vicinity are commencing to succumb, and a few have died. Hay is becoming scarce, and we have heard that some of our farmers were asking forty and fifty dollars per ton in the stack and eighty dollars delivered in town.

The Walla Walla papers say that there is very little snow lying on the ground in that county, but that the weather has been cold and a large number of sheep and cattle have died, principally for want of shelter.

From Grant county we have received the best kind of news, and to prove that the winter has been mild and that cattle have done exceedingly well. Mr. George Edgar, of Edgar & Co.'s stage line, brought down on his last trip a bunch of green grass. We are inclined to the opinion that Grant is the "Banner" county east of the mountains for stock raising.

All the news that we have received from upper Yakima, over in Washington Territory, is of a discouraging nature. From the lower portion of the valley, however, we believe the cattle are doing better.

At present it is almost impossible to form anything like a correct idea of the loss the cattle men are going to sustain. It depends how the spring opens and upon several other contingencies. However, taken altogether, the winter has not been so severe and in no way as disastrous as that of '61 and '62, and we are inclined to believe that when we come to sum up the entire loss of the winter, it will fall far short of the amount now supposed by many.

The band of young cattle brought up late last fall, by Mr. Wm. Cornell, of Rockland, from the Wallamet valley, we learn are dying off rapidly for the want of feed and shelter. The probability now is that he will lose the entire band—some two hundred—before the winter terminates. This is the same band upon which last fall we made such a glowing estimate of the money that Mr. Cornell was going to realize from his investment, providing, he got them safely through the winter. Our young enthusiasts on "cattle raising" will see from the above that this business is about as precarious and uncertain as any other, and that it cannot be profitably carried on without a proper place to protect the cattle from the inclement weather and a sufficient amount of feed to keep them from starving.

A letter from Grand Ronde valley, Union county, dated January 24th, says:

The winter so far is pronounced by the "Oldest Inhabitant" to be the pleasantest ever known here. About Christmas we had a "cold snap" lasting about four or five days, since that time the weather has been very pleasant in day time—clear and mild—almost as Spring time, and the evenings pleasant, generally being just about cold enough to freeze a little during the night. We have only had a very few days sleighing this winter. Stock has wintered on the commons without any prepared feed and is in very fine condition. Messrs. R. S. and I. T. McComas have a large band of sheep in this valley, as has also Mr. John Ladd, and so far, we believe they have not lost a sheep. The Messrs. McComas have also a large band of sheep in Powder River valley that are wintering finely. Stock dealers and ranchmen are highly delighted with their prospects, and there will be hundreds of tons of hay stand over for next winter's use.

Business of all kinds has been much better this winter than ever before. Our merchants have not probably done so much business, but what they have done has been on a much better and surer basis.

Beecher's Auction.

[From the New York World.

Each year as the time draws near for the annual auction of the pews of Plymouth, Beecher feels it incumbent on him to offer a few words in vindication of the system. Yesterday morning after he had announced that the yearly sales would take place to-morrow (Tuesday) evening at 8 o'clock, he said he would be no postponement on account of the weather, he continued as follows:

"I have no doubt but that we shall now hear the annual wail from England and elsewhere. They are generally much disturbed by this sale; their consciences have been affected by it for years. I have received many letters and have read many affecting articles in relation thereto. In the main the defect is that they point out no other way. If in this country we had the revenues of the whole kingdom—if we had fat bishops, or rather bishoprics—[laughter]—I mean if we had the whole pocket of the nation to put our hands into—we might save ourselves the scandal of the annual renting of pews. But, unfortunately for us, we are a plain people, and whatever we do we do from individual allowance. We ask nothing from Government; we preach in our own churches and in the mode we choose, and we are at liberty to choose whatever manner of supporting them that suits us. The churches have generally an annual rent for their pews, which, although it may not be determined by the bidding in at auction, is founded upon great commercial principles. If you will tell me how to build the house, pay for the coal and gas to light it, and for all other expenses, without money, then we will dispense with money; but, as long as it requires money, I know not any better way to get it than to allow everybody to take his seat at the price he agrees upon. If this is selling the Gospel, it is selling it in the sense that the laborer is worthy of his hire; selling it as all churches sell it. There are some that think that the Gospel ought to be preached, without money and without price. It is preached without money and without price in a thousand ways; but all experience has shown that you cannot pursue a secular business and then preach acceptably, too. If a man has got to find out new principles—bring out of the treasury things new and old"—he must bring his whole force to his work, and if he does this he must be sustained; it may be by the charities of man, or it may be by a regular agreement, but whatever it is he is only sustained. I have seen a great deal of preaching without salaries, and my opinion is that in ninety-one cases out of a hundred it is a very fit arrangement. [Laughter.] They ought not to have salaries. It belongs to the condition in which men are in this world, and we have satisfied it as much as we know how to by doing the Lord's work by absolute free will offering of the people, and for the most part they have been contented in this matter; and I submit it to every right-minded man, either at home or in dear old England, if our own people are satisfied whether it is anybody else's business. It is not their money, it is our own, given freely for the last eighteen years, and, as I learned from a tabulated statement, there has been freely raised simply for the support of the Gospel ordinances by this people $575,000, and that which was given freely. I believe I shall be within bounds when I say that of this large sum—over half a million dollars—there has not been one cent of it failed in the collection. The people have not promised and then not contributed. I don't believe that there is any bank or mercantile concern in New York that has set such an example as this church has, and our contributions have been perfectly voluntary and free."

The New York Sun says: It is the ambition of every true Philadelphian to live long enough to be mentioned in the Philadelphia Ledger as "one of the nine persons who died in Philadelphia last week at the advanced age of eighty."

REMARKABLE CURE OF THE SUPERINTENDENT OF THE GUADALOUPE MINE.

"THE WORK GOES HEAVILY ON."—CASE NO. 6001—SECOND SERIES.

GUADALOUPE MINE, near San Jose, Aug. 15, 1871.

DR. A. M. LORYEA & CO.—For a long time I have been afflicted with Rheumatism in my hands and feet, the prime most of the time being very severe. On the 7th of July I procured some of your UNK WEED REMEDY, and after taking only three bottles, find that I am quite restored to health and strength. I have had the Rheumatism for eleven (11) years, and think that the success of the "UNK" in curing a disease of so long standing, in so short a time, is very remarkable.

As a tonic and appetizer I have never met with anything equal to the "UNK WEED REMEDY." During the time I was taking it I gained fifteen (15) pounds in weight. Trusting that this certificate may be useful in inducing others afflicted as I was to try the "UNK," I remain, very truly yours,

JAMES T. BROWN,
feldtf Supt. and Agent Guadaloupe Mine.

The Daily Oregonian.

MONDAY MORNING, FEBRUARY 12, 1872.

RAILROAD ACCIDENT.—There was a collision yesterday of a freight train with the passenger train on the Oregon & California Railroad at Oregon City. The passenger train had switched off on a side track to allow the freight train to pass on the main track. Through some misunderstanding or mismanagement, the freight train was backed against the locomotive of the passenger train with such force as to break both the locomotive and the rear freight car, to some extent, and to injure several of the passengers. Mrs. A. J. Dunlway had her right arm badly bruised and Mrs. Weatherford was considerably hurt. Several others were thrown down and somewhat bruised. The freight car had to be left on the track. The locomotive was repaired as well as the facilities at hand would permit, so that it hauled the train down as far as the machine shops, where it was left and another locomotive brought the train down to the depot at East Portland.

THAT OTHER SPIGOT.—Cannot the Common Council afford to deal liberally with so useful a public institution as the Portland Library? The striking out of two hundred dollars for keeping a meteorological table at that institution doesn't seem to be quite the thing. Since Commissioner Hallock's police costs the city something like twenty thousand dollars a year, we don't see why we should allow Councilman Hallock to cut off so relentlessly these additional small items for things so useful and convenient. Perhaps he wants to "economize," so that he can squeeze out money enough to enable him to put on another policeman. The small sum cut off from the town clock, and the smaller sum cut off from the library would keep another impecunious hanger-on in tolerable shape, though it wouldn't, of course, make him exactly wealthy.

YE FAIRYLEGS OF YE FAIRE SEX.—The young ladies of Oregon City seem to understand how the thing is done. They are getting up a Leap Year ball, to take place Wednesday evening. One of the young ladies telegraphs to Graham, of this city, for a $30 band of music, and it is said that ladies are to have entire management of the party, inviting whom they will and slighting whom they will. The gentlemen will dance only when they shall find favor in the eyes of the damsels, and the rest of the time they are to wear a modest demeanor and observe a quiet and seemly deportment as becometh persons who play on ye second fiddle.

FALL AND INJURY.—Late Saturday night, a gentleman on his way home, when near the Plaza, heard some one calling to him, from the opposite side of the street, for assistance. Going across, he found that the person was Mr. Thomas Moffet, who had slipped and fallen, spraining an ankle so badly that he was unable either to walk or stand. The gentleman procured assistance and Mr. Moffat was taken home in a carriage. We hear that yesterday he was suffering intensely from his injured ankle.

COLUMBIA RIVER MAILS.—Another mail from the Dalles arrived last evening. It brought a copy of the Mountaineer the first we have received since the issue before Christmas. The steamer Hayward will leave this morning at 5 o'clock for the Cascades, carrying all the mail for Eastern Oregon now remaining in the Portland Postoffice, and Wells, Fargo & Co.'s express. It is thought that steamer connection can be made at the Cascades.

THE TEAM GOES ON.—The reports by telegraph from points up the Columbia, on Saturday, were as follows: Cascades, rained all night; thermometer 47°. Dalles, cloudy; no wind; thermometer 40°. Wallula, cloudy; wind from the south; thermometer 42°. Umatilla, cloudy; thermometer 42°. At such temperature the ice in the river will soon have to give way.

PASSENGERS FOR CALIFORNIA.—The steamship Idaho sailed yesterday for San Francisco, taking the following named passengers: B F Seward, J. L. Millard, S. F. Duncan, Joseph Lawless, A. Meller, J. Bloom, Miss C Levy, D C Hubbard and wife, Mrs A Thompson and two children, Wells, Fargo & Co's Messenger and thirteen in the steerage.

MAIL FROM THE DALLES.—A letter mail was received on Saturday from the Dalles. The mail-carrier reports that the trail, owing to the recent heavy rains, is almost impassable. A telegram received the same day from the Dalles states that the mail carrier, with a letter mail for this city, left there in the morning in a small boat.

A SUGGESTION TO A GENEROUS MAN.—Since the pay of the Boss man of the Police Commission would foot up fully enough or more than enough to pay for the lighting of the town clock, why will not that generous and public spirited man forego the little "pickings" and thus enable the city to light the clock o'nights.

STEAMER NEWS.—The steamer Dixie Thompson arrived from below yesterday afternoon, nearly a day behind time, having been detained by some derangement of her steering apparatus. She is hauled off for repairs, and the Okanogon will take her place for the present.

TO BE ENLARGED.—We understand that Mr. Wakefield, P. M., is about to enlarge his domain by converting a portion of the front of the room now occupied, to postoffice purposes. Business has so increased as to render this enlargement necessary.

PERSONAL.—A telegram from Dr. G. H. Atkinson, dated Moline, Ill., February 8th, states that he was detained by the snow blockade, but would leave for home next day if there should be a prospect of getting through. He was in good health.

LECTURE.—The next lecture in the Washington Debating Society's course, will be delivered to-morrow evening by Rev. T. L. Eliot, at half past seven o'clock, at Philharmonic Hall. Subject, "Music; its place in history, art and life."

REPORT TO A MUSICIAN.—The Herald says: "Messrs. Neufield, DePraus and others, will give a concert next Monday week in the Baptist Church for the benefit of Professor G. W. Newell, to whom it is tendered as a testimonial."

SNOWED IN.—A dispatch dated Cheyenne, February 9th, states that Hon. J. H. Mitchell and family were snow bound at that point. The latest dispatches represent that the snow blockade is now more complete than ever.

BRIGADE MEETING.—There is to be a meeting of staff and line officers of the 2d Brigade this evening at Brigade headquarters, to make arrangements for a parade of the Brigade on the 22d inst.

ASYLUM PHYSICIAN.—Dr. W. E. Rust has been appointed Resident Physician at the Insane Asylum, and will enter upon the discharge of his duties to-day.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

The Wallamet Society is about to take steps to ... a suitable suite of rooms.

The Circuit Court for Multnomah county will commence its spring term to-day.

It is stated that the Philharmonic Society will give a concert sometime during March.

The wind blew with such force on Saturday as to break some windows in the Masonic temple.

A Jefferson club was organized Saturday evening—not literary nor yet temperance—but Democratic.

Mrs. Jeffries' lecture on "The Ethics of Marriage," will take place at Philharmonic Hall this evening.

The steamer Oriflamme is advertised to sail from this port for San Francisco Tuesday, the 20th inst.

The Kalama Beacon is still running upon that sensation report that Kalama is going to have a bake shop.

The Columbia is believed to be clear of ice for nearly the whole distance between the Wallamet and the Dalles.

An authority in matters Chinese, says that five hundred dollars' worth of firecrackers were set off in one blast, on Friday.

A man fell of a log fell of the ferry slip Saturday and saved himself from drowning by seizing upon some drift wood till he was fished out.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

AMUSEMENTS.

ONE FINE THEATRE.—Richard Third was put on the stage Saturday evening, Waldron in the character of Richard; Mrs. Waldron, Queen Elizabeth; Miss Annie Pixley, Lady Anne; Fulford, in the two characters of King Henry and Richmond; Daniels as Buckingham; Mrs. Bird, the Duchess of York; other characters by the company. There was a good audience in attendance, and the great drama was well produced considering the difficulties of so small a stage. It will be played again this evening.

EXHIBITION BALL.—Mr. Cardinell's grand exhibition ball will take place at the Skating Rink next Thursday evening. Among the attractions to be offered will be a grand revolving pyramidal column composed of about one hundred young ladies—pupils of Mr. Cardinell. This will be not only something new but a strikingly beautiful tableau. The party is expected to be in every way one of the finest public balls of the season.

All the Year Round,

And in all parts of the world, the elements of disease are present in the air, the soil and the water, in a greater or less degree, and therefore the Great Vegetable Antidote to these invisible enemies of health, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, is invaluable as a household medicine at all seasons and in every latitude. At no period of the year is a regulating and corrective medicine more needed than toward the close of winter, when the sun and rain are beginning to break up the winter blockade, and from the softening soil arises that terrible miasma, which weighs like an incubus upon the vital machinery, and depresses the animal spirits. It is then that the seeds of intermittent and remittent fevers, of rheumatism and rheumatic gout, of obstinate stomach complaints, of disorders of the liver and bowels, and a whole host of pulmonary and nervous complaints are sown.

The best, the surest way to prevent this disastrous seeding is to invigorate and refresh the system with a course of the Bitters. If this precaution be taken now, there will be no danger of the miasmatic germs taking root in the fluids and tissues of the body, and bringing forth terrible fruit in the spring. Now is the time for prevention. Remember that vigor is the only safeguard against the virus of disease, and that Hostetter's Bitters is the purest, the safest, the most powerful and perfect invigorant ever administered, either as protective medicine or a remedy. A change of season approaches which almost always proves more or less disastrous to persons of a weak, nervous organization. Brace up at once with the leading Tonic of the age. Purge from the blood all morbid matter, strengthen the nerves, and regulate and purify the secretions with the Vegetable Elixir, which combines the juices of the finest medicinal roots, herbs and barks, with the most wholesome of all diffusive stimulants.

LITTLE HOMES!

WE HAVE OBTAINED MANY TESTIMONIALS, which appear in the WEEKLY OREGONIAN, for the purpose of answering once for all the many inquiries relative to our "LITTLE HOMES." We desire to show to strangers, through men of known integrity in this community that they are all we claim for them—cheap at present prices, and the speculation in them lies in the future growth of Portland, in the building of Railroads, and Bridges over the Willamette—which is merely a question of time—and in the fact that in less than one mile distant, City Blocks (200 feet square) are selling for from two to three thousand dollars, and in less than two-and-a-half miles (on a direct line) blocks are selling as high as $200,000 per block! Just think of it! $10 per acre for land, and 2½ miles distant, $200,000 per acre! New York city is over twenty miles in length and six miles wide, and many other cities in the United States are half that long, and quite as wide, and if Portland becomes a metropolis she will require this land for business purposes. Thirty years ago we could have purchased a section of land where the business portion of Chicago now stands for $10 per acre. $50 for a five acre tract. Thirty years ago we could have purchased the town site of Portland for a few pounds—but we didn't have the pony! Twenty years ago a solitary individual, with neither money nor friends, found himself in Portland without a red. He purchased a basket "on tick," and filled it with oranges, on the same terms, and went to peddling. Twenty long, eventful years have since elapsed. Still that sturdy old pioneer has stuck to Portland, and worked his way through thick and thin; and now where do you think he is?—in the poor house, and owes for the basket! But to our

Constancy

The following poem was written by Fred W Loring while he was besieged by the Indians in the Valley of Death and is probably the last relic of his pen

SCENE —A mountain camp on the Sierra Nevada Just washing clothes soliloquizes

Well by Jove! Here s a handkerchief now
Which in washing together has found lying near Decidedly feminine fool Well how
Could that thing ever have crept in here
I s a bel what is the other name?
By gracious it must be Isabel King!
And I d forgotten her What a shame!
She was really a lovely little thing

Now I remember—how could I forget!
The night when that handkerchief I took!
I wonder if she is married yet,
And if she still keeps that girlish look?
We sat on the beach—I believe it was Bye—
E an now I hear how the wild surf sings—
And we were alone—there was nobody by
And I said a great many preposterous things

And I pressed the handkerchief to my heart,
And swore to keep it forever and ever
And—it not being lace—she let it depart,
And I swore that it should go from me never
And I've kept my promise for all these years
Isabel, I am more faithful than you;
For, that you are married, I have my fears—
But, when was a woman known to be true?

For you have forgotten me quite, and I
Am wringing the suds from your handkerchief
Which seems as though it would never get dry
And it is now my assured belief
That I shall get married when this trip's through
I shall make the best husband in the world
Because I am ever constant and true—
Witness this rag on the clothes line curled

By Jove! what's that! Why Jim, old boy,
Wounded and by a grizzly, you say
And you killed him! Good—that is cause for joy—
Put him down here Injun, this side of the way
Not fatal, but still you will find
That it's far from fun to be clawed by a bear.
Here, bring us some stuff his wounds to bind,
Stay! Take that old handkerchief over there!

Old John Brown

THE MEETING OF TWO EXTREMISTS—HOW BROWN SOLD SOME HORSES

A. Miner Griswold, known extensively as "The Fat Contributor" and humorist, who recently gave such a splendid lecture in Ingersoll Hall, has since been traveling in Kansas, and in one of his letters to the Cincinnati Times gives a graphic picture of Ossawattomie, where old John Brown so bravely and fearlessly commenced "marching on" to freedom. Ingersoll says

I have a little reminiscence of John Brown which may be of sufficient interest to incorporate here In 1859 I was one of the editors of the Cleveland National Democrat, a Buchanan organ. The principal editor was Colonel Chas. B Flood, the veteran Democratic editor of Ohio One day Oasian E. Dodge, who lived in Cleveland at the time (editing a massive) and literary paper) entered the Democrat office, accompanied by a man of peculiar aspect on account of the whiteness and luxuriance of his hair and beard

"Colonel Flood," said Dodge, "permit me to introduce you to old John Brown, of Kansas"

"A man," said Flood rising, "whom I have abused more than any other man in America. John Brown, how are you?"

Brown smiled good humoredly at the situation, and they shook hands very cordially. They conversed for half an hour or so regarding the Kansas troubles. I remember Brown did not come up at all to the ideal I had formed of the sturdy Free State Champion. He was quite subdued in his manner, and talked in a quiet way, though I noticed a peculiar light in his eye, and a stern development of the lines of firmness about his mouth

He had some horses he had brought from Kansas with him (itself, and I remember some of our Democratic politicians, who made the Democrat office their headquarters, didn't hesitate to assert that "Old Brown stole 'em"

He remained in Cleveland a few days, until he had disposed of his equine stock, when he left to carry out his design on Harper's Ferry, as it afterward proved, although I don't remember of his mentioning any such purpose in his conversation with Col Flood. Come to think, the editorial room of a Buchanan newspaper of those days was not just the place for unfolding such a scheme as Brown was entertaining and revolving under that shock of iron-gray hair.

The next I heard of Osawattomie Brown was that he was a freak at Harper's Ferry. Mr. Flood went to Virginia, and was present at his execution. He told me afterward that he stood at the foot of the gallows by which Brown ascended the scaffold. "He was as cool," said Flood, "as though he was walking forth to dine with a friend." He even recognized Mr. Flood as he passed him, and called him by name, although the interview I have recorded was the only occasion on which they had met.

We will recall the above visit, and the cordial manner in which Colonel Flood, the old fire eating Democrat, greeted the venerable, fearless and renowned "Osawattomie Brown."

Brown sold his horses at auction in the face of repeated threats that he should be arrested on suspicion of stealing them. He replied to the menacing threats of the insulting crowd in calm, firm and resonant tones of almost musical sweetness. "Gentlemen, I have been surrounded by a great number of ruffians—by men worse steeped in whisky, tobacco and filthy tobacco—by men of worse features and meaner principles, if that is possible, but I was never scared and there is no man living who can turn me aside from what I know to be a path of duty. To your question of where or how I obtained the horses, I disdain to reply. They are now mine, and every dollar that I obtain for them goes toward establishing a principle that a few years hence will be considered the brightest star on Columbia's shield—Universal Liberty!"

The sale proceeded without further interruption, and as we walked back to our office the old patriarch whispered. "I know we wouldn't have any serious trouble! I have felt for years that I had a mission to perform; and I shall soon start a ball of freedom in motion which will roll on to success, even though attempts be made to block it with half a million of armed men!"

Gold in New York 110⅝

Portland Legal Tender quoted at 90c buying and 91c selling

The steamer Idaho cleared for San Francisco to day Her manifest is given below

The steamer California is announced for Victoria and Sound ports Feb 13th at 4 o clock P M

The steamer Oriflamme leaves San Francisco bound up February 13th She may be expected here next Saturday

The barkentine Amelia finished taking in cargo to day

It is thought that the bark Chetco will require 100 tons ballast before she can receive cargo It is generally conceded by old shipping men that had the bark Harrington taken in 100 tons ballast before rec iving cargo nothing would have happened her

To the Democratic leaders in this State know the importance of having the present pilot management investigated Complaints both public and private have been made but as yet, so far as we can learn no investigation has been made by the Pilot Commissioners to ascertain whether these complaints are well founded Such action is causing our merchants to conclude that the piloting is run in the interest of politicians and not to benefit our commerce, and of course the city of Portland and State of Oregon From all we can learn the river pilots exhibit a gross ignorance of their calling, for in nearly every instance have they caused vessels to lighter much more than was necessary and in many instances when lightering at all was wholly unnecessary, as in the case of the bark Chetco which was towed up yesterday She was required to take off 200 tons at Astoria, when she could have come up without lightering at all The bark Harrington was lightered so as to be towed down the river, when not a pound was necessary to have been taken off to give her easy passage to the sea These are well established facts and are recent occurrences Consignees do not wish to enter complaints nor do the Captains of vessels, for were they to do so it is thought something might happen to vessels consigned to the former or commanded by the latter

The steamboat Emma Hayward is to leave for the Lower Cascades Monday morning and the steamboat Idaho from the Dalles for the Upper Cascades It is thought connections can be made

The increase in the consumption of Wools by the United Kingdom is very large and as a consequence the amount consumed is watched with interest by all Wool growers as foreshadowing the future price The imports of Wools into the United Kingdom for 1871 were unable to procure at the present writing, owing to the stoppage of Eastern mail by the snow blockade but the imports of Wools into the United Kingdom for 1870 reached 203,250,499 lbs. The exports of foreign and Colonial Wools from the United Kingdom amounted to 62,542,384 lbs, leaving for consumption of the amount imported, 130,708,115 lbs, a quantity which was never exceeded except in 1860, when the exports were very small In 1840 the imports were under 60,000 000 lbs, and the exports of foreign and Colonial were little over 1,000 000 lbs; in 1850 the imports had increased to 74 000,000 lbs and the exports to 14,000,000 lbs, in 1860 the imports reached 148 000,000 lbs, and the exports nearly 31 000 000 lbs

We publish the following extracts from a letter received by us to-day, for the double purpose of eliciting information as to where the fault lies and also that attention may be drawn to it, that there may be no further cause for complaint from our Fruit growers, as we are confident that the proper authorities will see that all such for complaint be immediately removed upon having their attention drawn to it, for in giving this publicity we do not wish it understood that we charge bad faith on the part of the North Pacific Transportation Co., for Fruit sacking the San Francisco market is handled by the Willamette Transportation Company and sold by drayage in this city and is often put in warehouse pending arrival of steamer

CHASON CITY, Feb. 9th, 1872

COMMERCIAL EDITOR, OREGONIAN:

Dear Sir —Can you give the reason why so much fruit spoils on the way from Portland to California? From some cause or other fully one-half or more reaches the market in a damaged condition, and in many cases not selling for Now I have written Mr. Ladd, of P. Co. pay no attention whatever to the careful handling of fruit, and that nine times out of ten they are the cause of so much spoiling If the case is fact it is a shameful outrage on the fruit growers in general, as they pay the Company many hundred dollars annually in freight.

Produce Market.

WHEAT—The market is devoid of interest Shippers, we are informed, prefer not purchasing even with concessions made by holders, as the Liverpool advices by telegraph are of such a character that will not justify offers being advanced. The dispatches last night stated that the prospects were flattering but it is well known in San Francisco and also very generally known by operators here that the paper in San Francisco from which the markets of the city are taken and telegraphed to us is controlled in the interest of the large Wheat operator of that city, who when he wishes to sell off causes flattering reports to be published. Such has been taken in connection with the fact that the large Flour mills have stopped manufacturing Flour, causes but little if any confidence to be placed in the public dispatch. Private telegrams quote the market weak and nominal. The Wheat market has been of such a peculiar character that no one could tell with any certainty what the next day's market would open or close at and consequently both sellers and buyers have taken chances Holders were ready here so as to secure a large purchase shipers would pay from $1 00@2 cental, but cargoes for both the Idaho and Chetco are secured

FLOUR—The steamship Idaho took on to day 12 316 qr and 8,316 ft sk of the 20 000 bbls for San Francisco. There are but few orders, so far as we can learn, in the market for Victoria and Sound ports, and they do not in the aggregate at the present writing amount to over 500 bbls. Prices are weak at former quotations

OATS—Beyond a good local demand nothing is doing Quotations remain unchanged—dealers paying $2 25@2 30 jobbing at $2 45@2 50 cental sacked

FEED STUFFS—Shipments from Puget Sound continue which with the receipts from California are such that are more than supplying present demands and consequently prices are low Weak at $1 05@1 25 ₱ 100lbs in jobbing lots

HAY—The receipt from Puget Sound per steamship California of over 100 bales, has still further depressed the market, and though no change in quotations are made since our last report, still we doubt if baled Timothy of fifteen choice could be placed to dealers at over $25 per ton

FRUIT—From the San Francisco Commercial Herald we obtain the following concerning the Fruit market in that city "Since our last report the steamer California has arrived from Los Angeles with 500 Oranges and 10 000 Lemons. The bark Mazama from Tahiti, brought 22 000 Cocoanuts. The steamer Ajax, from Portland, is now discharging 6,000 boxes Oregon Apples The market is largely overstocked with Apples, mostly of common varieties, while extra choice are very scarce There are more inferior Apples in market than can possibly be sold—many certainly will go to waste. They are coming not only from the Coast Range and the mountainous districts from Humboldt county where, only a few years ago, they received their supplies from us In addition to the regular winter supplies from Coos Bay, Oregon, we have them now coming from our entirely new quarter, Puget Sound, unless we check it entirely overstocked, and only the very best varieties can be sold at satisfactory prices Cranberries continue plentiful and cheap Apples—Choice, $1 ₱@2 ₱ box common, 50c@1 Pears—Easter Bourre, $1@1 50 ₱ box; cooking, 75c@1 ₱
